Marse William, hez you got a overcoat what you don't want; er a heavier hat dat seen some service; er a pair britches what don't fit you; en a weskit, speckled or unspeckled; en a undercoat wid de sleeves frazzled; en a pair er shoes what run down at de heel, en ten cents ter git my dram wid? A Toledo boy twelve years old received a dollar from his father with instruction to buy a holiday present for his baby sister. He brought back a toy steam engine. His father had intended to buy this for him, but as it was gone he bought a rubber doll, a rattle and picture book.

NEARLY WHITE GLOVES.

Judge Wilcox came very near getting a pair of white kid gloves this morning. There was only one case on the calendar of the Police Court and this was continued until the 16th inst. Manuel Pacheco was arrested last night on the charge of leaving his horse untied in the street and he asked for a little time as he intended to fight his case. It appears that while the passengers were alighting from the afternoon train from down the road, Pacheco's hack ran away from the depot and started up town. Patrolman Pierce had just gone on the King street beat and he brought the frightened animal to a standstill. Had it not been for this piece of good work on the part of the patrolman, someone along the road might have got hurt as there was a large number of people abroad.

Bark Wrestler in Port.

The barkentine Wrestler arrived off the harbor last night and was towed in by the tug Fearless this morning. She is out 24 days from San Francisco by way of Lahaina, where she discharged a lot of mooring chains. She brings a general cargo and is sailed by Captain Nielsen. Fourteen years ago the Wrestler was in charge of Captain J. Hodson, one of the present efficient Custom House inspectors, who followed the sea for many years. He ran her one trip from San Francisco to Portland, thence to Panama and back to Port Townsend. The vessel was built for Captain Chas. Schnauer eighteen years by Hall Bros. at Port Ludlow and was the last vessel built by that firm at the above place previous to the shipyard being moved to Port Blakeley. About six years ago the Wrestler was wrecked off the coast of British Columbia and was sold at auction to San Francisco parties, but as she was sold in a foreign port the purchasers could not fly the American flag. She was then secured by Captain Nelson and other San Francisco parties, who put her under the Central American flag. The owners have lately made extensive repairs to the vessel and she now flies the Stars and Stripes.
